Future Ready is an ambitious, bespoke curriculum designed for students who benefit from a personalised Key Stage 4 pathway.

The curriculum prepares students to thrive in education, employment and adult life by explicitly teaching the knowledge, skills and behaviours needed to become confident, independent and informed members of society. In addition to their study of the AQA Unit Awards and revision of content from core subjects, students receive personalised tuition to prepare them for the challenges of later life including, but not limited to, first aid, presentation skills and media literacy.

Future Ready is underpinned by high expectations for every learner. Students are challenged to read demanding and meaningful texts, produce portfolios of work as evidence for the AQA unit awards, engage with and debate complex ideas, develop academic vocabulary, and communicate with increasing confidence through discussion, presentation and extended writing.

Future Ready provides a different route to success: one that values academic thinking alongside practical application. Students investigate contemporary issues, evaluate information critically, undertake sustained projects, and apply their learning to meaningful situations that mirror the demands of adult life.

By the end of Key Stage 4, every student will have developed the confidence, resilience and independence to take their next steps successfully. They will leave with recognised achievements, a portfolio of authentic experiences, stronger literacy and communication skills, and a clear understanding of themselves, their aspirations and the opportunities available to them.
